

How to make ends meet.

By delivering premium-quality videoconferencing at a price that'll make your boss smile.

By upgrading to the next level in videoconferencing that will work with your standards-compliant systems.

By giving the camera "ears," so it turns and looks at you when you're speaking.

By automating ISDN setup, so all you have to know is your own phone number.

By integrating remote system management to keep your network up and running.

By picking up the intelligent remote control to instantly "wake" the system—without pressing a button.

By sharing presentations with team members in the videoconference and across the Internet.

By using the built-in speakerphone to include team members without video.
